ShareFest 2008

PRINT

By Naomi Parker

A small grass section of the Fleming Middle School campus, located on the south side by the bungalows, laid empty just waiting to be used. With plants, shovels, and a lot of team work, the empty area was quickly filled, thanks to adults and youth from King's Way Community Church.

ShareFest and Fleming provided the group with the plants, t-shirts, and food, while King's Way donated three benches to enjoy the view. The group met at 8 a.m. on June 7 to begin working on the project.

"A special thanks to Pastor Dane Justis and Pastor Nori Hanaoka and church members for adding to the campus beautification of Fleming Middle School," Assistant Principle Richard Sanchez said. "Their hard work and support is very much appreciated by all the stakeholders of Fleming Middle School."
